NFS 350

User & Office friendly
Exceeds your expectations

The NFS 350 from Franking Sense is a digital franking machine that has been designed to meet the needs of a busy office environment. Its user friendly design and modern features make it the ideal choice for handling today's mailing requirements. The unit is modular in design and you can upgrade the machine to accommodate an autofeed system, increasing capacity. This is a unique feature at this level of machine.

The NFS 350 can be linked to a range of postal scales helping to eliminate operator error and is fully compliant with new Royal Mail's PIP pricing policy. Improve the image of your organisation with the NFS 350.

Office-friendly

- Compact modern styling means 350 blends well with today's office designs, while quiet operation at less than 60dB avoids disturbing people nearby.
- Click-on top mounting of the optional weigh platform keeps valuable desk space uncluttered.
- Integral accounting means you can track and allocate postage costs to the appropriate departments. And there's one-key access to remote recrediting.

User-friendly

- 350 is comfortable and pleasant to use, with easy pushbutton controls including one-push access to many functions.
- Details of your chosen settings and options are shown as big clear graphic displays, with helpful prompts to guide you.

- Auto date change saves you a task and protects against franking mail with the wrong date.
- Occasional re-inking is quick and clean with a click-in cartridge.

Mailing-friendly, too

- 350 maintains speed and quality at up to 60 letters a minute. It prints onto mailpieces as thick as 10mm, even with uneven surfaces. And there's an automatic label dispenser as standard for even thicker flats and parcels.
- Exact postage is assured by the 2kg electronic weigh platform option, with automatic franked value setting.
- You can call on yet more options for extra flexibility. AutoFeed saves time and shifts peak loads fast.

Image-friendly

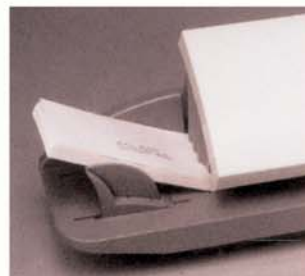

- Precision digital inkjet printing provides a crisp clean impression, projecting your high corporate values before the envelope is even opened. And you can enhance your communication with 350's versatile messaging facilities.
- Customised slogans can be loaded and stored from digital memory cards – up to 10 are available for instant selection. Digital control enables complex logos, graphics and even photographs to be incorporated.
- Inbuilt mini-dies provide a menu-selectable range of handy postal overprints.
- And you can key-in up to five personalised text messages direct on the 350, to print alongside the frank. That's handy for extra marketing messages or greetings, stored in the memory for instant recall.
